MIDDLE EAST ENERGY & INFRA VIRTUAL

WELCOME TO THE BUSINESS-CARD EXCHANGING, VIRTUAL MEETING, INSIGHT SHARING WORLD OF PROXIMO MIDDLE EAST ENERGY & INFRA

It's been a strange year to say the least, with the spread of Covid-19, global financial markets have been unable to conduct business in person and opportunities to connect with the industry are in short supply. However, these events make it even more crucial to gather experts in the Middle East Energy & Infra finance sector and drive business in a capricious market.

With ever increasing volatility in oil price, countries in the Middle East are looking to move away from an over reliance on oil and focus their attention on developing renewable energy projects. Through showcasing the very latest upcoming projects, key energy and Infra finance figures in the region, we will examine how governments and corporations are adapting their funding and financing strategies against a backdrop of oil price volatility.

Join the latest addition to our growing series of interactive Proximo virtual events, to get a real opportunity to connect with future business partners in the Middle East Energy & Infra sector including: developers, Institutional Investors, funds (Debt/Equity), banks, service providers and leading Government institutions to discuss opportunities, and share experiences and real-life learnings from getting renewable projects off the ground.

Tune in for engaging panel discussions, interviews, real life case studies and join us as we help navigate a strange and unpredictable year for the middle east energy & Infra finance exchange.
